Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 15 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Fine and dry for most.

Today:
Drizzle in eastern England dying out this morning. Fog clearing and low cloud breaking to leave a mostly dry day with sunny spells. Feeling warm in light winds, especially in the south. Showers moving eastwards across Northern Ireland and Scotland.

Tonight:
A band of cloud and showers moving east across Scotland, northern England and north Wales, the showers mostly dying out. Dry elsewhere with clear spells, a few fog patches forming.

Thursday:
Most parts dry with broken cloud and sunny spells. Feeling warm again in light winds, especially in the south and east. Turning wet and windy in the far northwest later.

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Rain into the west on Friday, some heavy. Fine further east. The weekend sees further rain or showers in the east and west, perhaps some drier weather for central parts.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.